

RELEASE BALLES IN $10,000 FOR TRIAL IN TWO COUNTIES

Military Academy Headmaster Appears in Two Courts for Release

WAIT APPEAL RESULT

Balles Has Been in Jail Since August 16th Awaiting A Bondsman

A Christmas release under bail was granted George W. Balles, 37, military academy headmaster, on Tuesday, by two counties, Bucks and Montgomery.

Balles, who was granted a new trial by the State Superior Court on charges involving students of his school, was released Tuesday in $10,000 bail by court clerks in Norristown and Doylestown.

Balles was released from Montgomery County Prison after a Philadelphia bondsman posted $5000 cash bail with the clerk of Montgomery county court.

He immediately was taken into custody by Assistant Bucks County Detective William L. Stackhouse. The detective, Balles and the bondsman then journeyed to Doylestown. There the bondsman again posted $5,000 bail in cash and Balles was given his freedom.

The military academy headmaster, who is involved in charges while he operated institutions at Three Tuns, near Ambler, Montgomery county, and at Ivyland, Bucks county, has been in jail since August 16th, after he was sentenced to serve from seven and one-half to fifteen years in Eastern State Penitentiary by Judge Harold G. Knight in Norristown.

An appeal was taken to the State Superior Court on November 12th after Judge Knight refused Balles a new trial.

Previously Judge Knight granted a new trial to the headmaster's wife, Laura, 42, who was convicted along with her husband. Judge Knight ruled that in her case the weight of evidence against her did not merit conviction.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Eisenhower and Truman

Washington, Dec. 26.

THE efforts to make a presidential candidate out of General Eisenhower, which are continuing in a more or less desultory way, have succeeded so far in doing exactly one thing—and this is to embarrass General Eisenhower. This is too bad, because he is much too good a man to be embarrassed in this way.

SOME unauthorized and overzealous persons are now distributing buttons bearing the words "Draft Ike," and every few weeks a new piece of publicity promotion makes its appearance. Of course, neither directly nor indirectly has General Eisenhower the remotest connection with these activities. Moreover, if those in intimate association with him are to be relied upon, he is more than a little resentful over the unpleasant position in which he is being placed and at his inability to do anything about it.

HERE it is more than a year and a half before the national conventions and yet from now on practically everything General Eisenhower does will be construed in political terms. Every time he makes a speech it will be analyzed for its political significance. If he follows out his desire to retire as chief of staff, the same thing will happen.

IF he should now make an unequivocal statement that he will not be a candidate, does not want to be drafted and will not accept a nomination by either party, it would not better the situation very much so.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Mrs. Anna M. Spaatz, mother of the commander of the army air forces, was back at the suburban home of her daughter today after being missing for nearly 10 hours. Police found her somewhat dazed in a railroad station at Philadelphia. Advance indications today point toward a compromise accord between Canada and the United States in a common effort to compose an atomic code report certain of majority approval by the Atomic Energy Commission at Lake Success, N. Y.

A possible Republican move to abolish sugar controls in 1947 was foreshadowed today by a GOP Congressional Food Study Committee report bitterly assailing the Government's sugar policy.

A 16-year-old Australian girl was completing the last lap today of a trip halfway around the world to have a nail removed from her lung at Philadelphia. She is brown-eyed Shirley Skinner who, with her mother, boarded an Australian National Airways Skymaster at Melbourne last Sunday and landed in Oakland on Christmas Day.

Search for a Western Airlines plane overdue since early Christmas Eve with 12 aboard was resumed today in the Laguna Mountains area 55 miles east of San Diego.

This expedition, called "Operation Highpump," will explore the vast icy regions of the Antarctic for approximately four months, training personnel, testing equipment, and developing Navy technique for establishing and maintaining bases in rigid areas.

Two ice breakers are among the 13 ships included in Task Force 68. All these ships are equipped with great quantities of the newest cold weather clothing and many invaluable scientific instruments.

Christmas was not overlooked, for the crew of every ship participated in divine services and enjoyed the traditional turkey dinner on that day.

Vosa, who is 25 years of age, has been in the navy for four years. He was stationed recently at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill.

BOTH LEGS BROKEN IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Young Man of 20 Also Has Ear Partly Amputated In Hit-Run Case

HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS

Pennsylvania State Police from Langhorne barracks investigated two motor accidents on Christmas day, one man being severely injured when struck by a hit-run driver, and another motorist being held on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The injured: Donald Squires, 20, of 8 Beverly Road, Babylon, N. Y., fractures of both legs, and partial amputation of right ear.

Squires was removed to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., by Charles R. Miller, S. 10th street, Philadelphia. Bucks Co. Rescue Squad was summoned, but Miller had left with the injured man before the arrival of the ambulance.

Squires had been a passenger in a sedan operated by Hamilton C. Brewster, Deer Park, L. I., N. Y., and owned by Walter L. Squires, Babylon, N. Y. When a flat tire developed on the machine at 3.15 a. m., Brewster pulled to the side of the Old Lincoln highway to make repairs. Young Squires was standing to the left of the vehicle when another car is said to have cut across the highway and struck him. According to state police the driver did not halt. Officers Arner and Marks are investigating.

The man arrested on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor is James C. Artrip, 33, of Nobleview, Ind., who was operating a sedan owned by "Hells on Wheels," of Kenhorst, Berks County. According to state police, Artrip is said to have crashed into the sedan operated by Salvatore C. Gizzi, 21, Brunswick avenue, Trenton, N. J., and owned by Carl Gizzi, of the same address. The left front fender of the Artrip machine struck the right rear fender of the Gizzi car as the two were travelling east on the Lincoln highway at Oxford Valley at 3.30 a. m.

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace Horace Cooper, Langhorne, this morning, Artrip was released under bail for January term of court. Officer Leibergal investigated. No one was injured, but the machine operated by Artrip was damaged to the extent of $300, and the other machine to the extent of $100.

ACCIDENT REPEATERS

CHICAGO—(INS)—The National Safety Council reveals a report by M. R. Youngman, safety director for the Super Service Motor Freight Co., Nashville, Tenn., in which he charges that 4 per cent of the nation's drivers are accident repeaters. He blames them for 35 per cent of all traffic collisions.

EGG PRODUCTION

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(INS)—Dark days and dark hen houses don't leave enough hours of daylight for hens to eat and work. Light, either daylight or artificial light, gets the hens into production at the time of year when eggs bring top prices, says E. W. Anderson, Purdue University extension poultryman.

REPORT SHOWS STUDY OF BUCKS CO. SOIL

Well Indexed, It is Aid To Farmers, Vocationists, Engineers, Etc.

IS ONE OF A SERIES

An 86-page study of Bucks County's rich soil has just been released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Inside the front cover explanation of use of the booklet is given. It states that if you are a farmer interested in purchasing a farm, that you should:

"1. Locate the tract on the map.
"2. Identify the soils by comparing the map colors with the symbols.
"3. Look up the soils in the index to the proper section and learn what the soils are suitable for.

There are also included a brief history of the county (founded by the Dutch in 1624), a study of its physiography, relief and drainage (it lies principally in the Piedmont province), a review of its agricultural economy (most farms are between 50 and 129 acres; dairying is the chief source of income), a detailed soil analysis (about 90 types mentioned), discussions of its climate (the Atlantic Ocean, 100 miles away).

The booklet, one of a series on the counties of the Nation, was prepared by the department in cooperation with Pennsylvania State College.

Copies in reasonable numbers may be had for the asking by addressing the information division of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Plant Industry, Beltsville, Md.

Join Festivities In Spite of Canes, Crutches

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Dec. 26.—Thirty-five patients from Tilton General Hospital, Fort Dix, N. J., journeyed to St. Charles Hall by bus on Thursday evening to join in a party which was attended by 35 Junior hostesses of Bucks County Hospitality Group.

Mrs. Elwood Knight welcomed the group, and an orchestra provided music for dancing. Many of the boys have long been patients at the hospital, and in spite of canes and crutches used by some, all entered as far as possible into the activities. Tempting refreshments were served.

Gifts were presented to each young man, these being made possible by the young women. The young men are looking forward to welcoming the Junior hostesses at No. 7 Club, Fort Dix, tomorrow evening. This will be the 49th such party sponsored by the group for servicemen during 1946.

Christmas News Here Was of Varied Nature

Christmas news in Bristol was of a varied nature. Police and firemen's activities were few. The weather was wonderful.

Someone with a peculiar idea of celebrating Christmas eve went into the Bannister marble yard at the foot of Mill street and upset a number of grave stones on Tuesday night.

One of the smaller windows at the McCrory store, Mill and Wood streets, was broken. It looks as though some intoxicated person struck it with his head. It was one of the windows of the entrance area-way.

A 10-year-old boy was reported missing from his home after being scolded and reprimanded by his father. The police did not make public the name of the lad.

A father during an argument Christmas morning cut his daughter's thumb with a paring knife. If charges are filed he will be given a hearing today.

Christmas eve services were held in the churches, as well as Christmas morning services. Large congregations attended the services.

Vehicular traffic through the borough was light.

Groups toured the borough Tuesday night and early Christmas morning singing carols. Carols were broadcast in a number of sections of Bristol and the idea has met with much favor.

The Christmas tree supply exceeded the demand and after a price drop some dealers still had some trees left.

DAMAGE SUITS ARE RESULT OF MOTOR CRASHES IN BUCKS

Vincent Svergan, Oxford Valley, Names a Delaware Resident

IS ASKING $15,000

Two Libels in Divorce Are Also Entered in the County Courts

DOYLESTOWN, December 26.—Two automobile damage suits, aggregating claims of $25,000, and two libels in divorce have been filed in the Court of Common Pleas, Doylestown. One of the libellants seeks to have his marriage annulled.

Claiming damages amounting to $15,000, Vincent Svergan, Oxford Valley, has named C. W. Dilliberto, Middletown, Del., the defendant in an action in trespass.

The plaintiff was operating his car July 17, when it figured in a collision with a vehicle owned by the defendant. He alleges that prior to the accident his car was valued at $650 and after the impact it was worth $150. The defendant also claims the sum of $337.50 for the loss of wages for several weeks.

Ella Eckert, Philadelphia, has named Estella Underkoffler, Park avenue and 9th street, Perkasie, the defendant in an action in trespass claiming the sum of $10,000. The plaintiff avers that she was a passenger in a car December 6, 1944, when she was injured in a collision at County Line Road and Route 113, near Souderton.

Charles G. Czaplinski, Ottsville, R. D. 1, has filed a libel for the annulment of his marriage to Florence M. Czaplinski, Stark, Florida, on the grounds that she had a husband when she married him.

The libellant avers that they were married Dec. 7, 1942, in Richmond, Va. The libellant entered the military service Feb. 20, 1943. He further alleges that when he married the respondent she was still wedded to Paul Kietke from whom she was divorced in September, 1944.

Isaac Nace, whose address is believed to be in New York state somewhere but is unknown, has named the respondent in a divorce libel filed by Elizabeth Nace, 816 Market street, Perkasie. They were married February 1, 1919, in Perkasie, and separated Sept. 16, 1927.

Are Guests at A Dinner With Mr. Barnard As Host

CROYDON, Dec. 26.—C. M. Barnard was host at a Christmas party at Sottung's Cafe on Monday evening, when a turkey dinner was served to members of his orchestra and the group of entertainers who have been visiting veterans in various hospitals during the past four years.

The dining hall and tables were decorated with poinsettia plants, evergreen trees and holly. A tree adorned the top of the piano.

Edward Lynn, manager of the Grand Theatre, who has accompanied the group many times, was the speaker of the evening. Vocal solos were given by Jeanne and Corella Goodman, and Violet Long; dance numbers executed by Helene and Patricia Coyne, "Margie" Tilling, host and Mary Lou Bennett; piano solos, Miss Margaret Zobel.

Others enjoying the affair: Anthony Vattimo, Florence, Catherine and Harry Zobel, Jr.; "Bobby" McCintock, Homer Pfeiffer, Vincent Recca, Shirley Bennett, Merle Sylvester, Jean LaPenta, Carol Ann Newman, John Antonelli, Ann Hedrick and Fred Kratz. Mrs. C. M. Barnard, A. Ennis and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. C. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. T. Coyne, Mr. and Mrs. A. Vattimo, Mrs. Harry Zobel, and Mrs. R. Goodman.

Receive Letters From "Adopted" Polish Tots

CROYDON, Dec. 26.—Troop No. 5, Junior Catholic Daughters of America, held a Christmas party at the home of the counsellor, Mrs. George Banneman, on Saturday afternoon, following a business meeting.

Plans were made to continue sending cards and gifts to three Polish children the troop has "adopted." The girls received Christmas cards and a letter from the children, Bernard and Roman Mielzynski and Janine Gryska. Polyanyna gifts were exchanged and new names drawn for the ensuing year. Each member was presented with a religious pin by her counsellor.

Prizes in games were awarded to Dolores Brach, Alverda Williamson, Dolores Phillips, Amelia Marini and Mary Weisinger. After carols, refreshments were served. Other members attending were: Gertrude Tryon, Louise Lawler, Mary Ann Schurr, Lois Seaders, Grace O'Donnell, Joan Weise and Mary Lynch.

1 Killed, 3 Wounded in Gun Battle

Akron, O.—One man was killed today and three others, including two policemen, were wounded in a gun battle in Akron. Nick Kalavity, 73, was slain. James Schalk, 36, and Joe Thomas, 35, both patrolmen, were wounded in the leg. Edwin J. Everhart, 25, suffered a serious abdominal wound. Kalavity, according to police, opened fire on the two patrolmen when they went to investigate an exchange of gunshots between him and Everhart.

Many Dead in Plane Crashes

Shanghai—An official estimate was lacking today in the toll of dead and injured in three separate plane crashes near Shanghai, but other estimates ran as high as 71 persons killed. Reports indicated that all the casualties, except the American pilots, were Chinese.

The disastrous series of crashes occurred Christmas night when Shanghai airports were shrouded in dense fog.

Rescue crews were still removing bodies from the planes today and Chinese aviation officials posted guards about the wreckage. Photographers were refused permission to take pictures.

First reports said at least two of the American pilots were killed. However, one previously identified as dead, Capt. J. M. Preus, was still alive, although critically injured.

THE ONLY REMEDY

Taking another long and hard look at the federal establishment,
the Joint Congressional Commission on the Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures, headed by Senator Byrd, has noted that this vast organism continues to display a deplorable characteristic. That is, it tends to grow if let alone.

The committee reports that for the fifteenth consecutive month
since V-J Day federal civilian employment, while showing an overall decline, increased if the reductions in the number of emergency employees of the War and Navy Departments were excluded. During October the net reduction totaled 39,486, but if the two service departments are left out of the calculation the number of federal employees rose by 7,902.

These figures are discouraging.
As the committee points out, the now familiar pattern keeps on repeating itself. There is a temptation to think that a trend powerful enough to produce this effect, despite the efforts of Congress to curb it, is virtually irresistible.

But that is not the case. As scrutiny of the report reveals, measures taken have brought some good results. The added employees are to be found in agencies that were exempt from limitations imposed by the Bureau of the Budget or fixed by Congress in the pay act of 1946. Certainly these agencies can be brought to time if Congress insists.

MEN, RATS AND CATS

It is a little absurd, when you come to think of it, that the human race, which has been so fiendishly ingenious about devising instruments for its own destruction, has made so little progress toward destroying the natural enemies of mankind. We have, as our latest plaything, an atomic bomb which everyone is gloomily predicting will wipe out civilization if it is ever used.

We also have, it is said, radiological and bacteriological weapons which are more deadly still.
But, after trying hard for several thousand years, we are still subject to plagues of grasshoppers, mosquitoes, influenza, starlings,
infantile paralysis, rats and other rodents, insects, bacteria and viruses too numerous to mention.

As killers, it seems, men are a rather over-rated lot. No weapon ever invented has been as destructive as the plague, although another war might produce a different story. The cat, which the Egyptians adopted 6,000 years ago, is still the most efficient means of getting rid of rats and mice. Despite all the insecticides invented, our crops seem to be preyed on by more insect pests than they were 100 years ago.

About the most we seem to be accomplished has been the upsetting of nature's balance once in a while. We killed off all the passenger pigeons and now have swarms of jabbering starlings, an exchange of dubious value.

Perhaps, as the pessimists predict, we shall wind up by exterminating the genus homo and leaving the earth to the rattlesnake,
the grasshopper and the owl.

The Great Game of Politics

far as he is concerned. In the first place, he would seem to be declining something that had not yet been offered him—and which may never be offered. In the second place, his uninhibited boosters would insist that his declaration only made him stronger as a candidate, increased the desirability of drafting him.
They would point out that this was the correct position for him to assume but that, of course, he would not refuse to run if drafted and that his genuine unwillingness was exactly what might be expected of him.

So the General is in a fix where he can do nothing about this presidential publicity one way or the other. The thing that makes the fix somewhat more painful is that it seems perfectly apparent that even if he were co-operating under cover the chances of his being drafted by either Democrats or Republicans would be exceedingly poor. For one thing, there appears no public demand for such action anywhere—certainly not among the veterans of the last war. Recently, Fortune magazine published a poll of veterans taken by Mr. Elmo Roper which showed an emphatic majority of veterans against the nomination of either General Eisenhower or General MacArthur.

THE veterans, Mr. Roper reported, are against the generals, politically.
According to this poll, the choice of the veterans for President are, in the order named—Dewey, Stassen, Truman, Wallace, Taft. Both Generals Eisenhower and MacArthur are farther down the line. Thus, it seems, that there not only is no substance to the Eisenhower movement now but it is very unlikely there will be any later. His boom is largely the publicity product of a small number of left wing Democrats who are bitterly hostile to Mr.
Truman.

BESIDES providing an unpleasant experience for General Eisenhower, all the movement has done so far is to make the Truman nomination in 1948 more sure. An Eisenhower draft, with Mr. Truman concurring is one way this could be avoided.
The other way is for Mr. Truman absolutely to decline to become the candidate. Both these contingencies are exceedingly remote.
Concerning the latter, men close to the President say that he is not at all impressed by those who now tell him that because he stood up and fought John L. Lewis instead of appealing him, he has made a great political comeback.

HE just smiles at that, though he must know that his stature in the country has been enhanced by his firmness and courage. But this gives him no illusions about either himself or the Democratic prospects. He is quite well aware that the odds favor the Republicans and that there will have to be an awful lot of good luck for both himself and the party if they are to have a real chance. Nevertheless, Mr. Truman intimates, that he regards the election on November 5 as the end of the first quarter not the end of the game; that he intends to play the game out to the finish and that when the whistle blows at the end of the fourth quarter in November, 1948, he will be found in there fighting. That is the way he feels about it—and that is the way he is talking.

Here and There In Bucks County Towns

Mrs. Edwin D. Battigan will be host to the Chalfont Community Club at its Christmas party on Friday afternoon. The party will be featuring by an exchange of gifts.

Approximately 400 children attended the Christmas party at Doylestown Armory Saturday evening, which was sponsored by the Doylestown Lions' Club. Santa Claus (James Rutherford) distributed candy and cookies.

Games were played and carols sung by the group. Dr. Manning Smith served as master of ceremonies, and Mrs. Frank X. Shelby, accompanied the carolers on the piano.

Cookies and candy were distributed to children at Tabor Home and Christ Home for Children at War-minster.

Only the cement-blocked shell of a 50 by 50 garage remains standing following a gasoline-inflamed fire at Zion Hill, about two miles south of Coopersburg, on Saturday.

The structure, a truck trailer and two dump trucks were left in ruins.
Damages, conservatively estimated by Andrew L. Walker, a coal trucker and owner of the property, were placed at $19,000.

Flames were discovered about eight o'clock by Russell Harwick, a neighbor.

Two fire trucks from Coopers-burg, two from Quakertown, and Milford Square Fire Co. answered the alarm.

Firemen pumped dry a well on Walker's property and an abandoned well across the road. The Coopersburg tank truck made several trips to and from the borough for additional water to fight the fire.

The fire fighting was made hazardous when a small gasoline storage tank exploded. The flaming fuel sprayed the scorched framework of the upper part of the 1½-story building and the equipment
Walker had in his garage.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, fullness under the eyes, headaches
and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

a distinctive flavor; and they are served with spaghetti and a simple tomato sauce. The Swedish Meat Balls are made by a slightly different method and are served with cream gravy. For the Russian Beef Balls, uncooked rice is combined with the meat before cooking, and the balls are cooked in tomato soup.

In the first two recipes, the meat balls are braised; this involves careful browning of the meat before liquid is added and they are covered. In the last recipe, the balls are simmered in the liquid. Whichever method is used, the heat should be kept low, to assure the utmost in juicy tenderness. Meat balls take only a short time to cook, anyway, so there is no need to hurry them!

Spaghetti and Meat Balls

1 pound ground beef
1 onion, grated
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of black and cayenne pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/4 teaspoon thyme

1 egg, well beaten
Lard or drippings for browning
8 ounces uncooked spaghetti
Tomato sauce

Combine meat, seasonings, bread crumbs and egg. Shape into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Brown all over in hot lard or drippings. Cover frying-pan and cook slowly for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, cook spaghetti in boiling salted water. Make Tomato Sauce with 4 tablespoons drippings, 4 tablespoons flour, and 2 cups tomato juice or tomatoes. Season with salt and pepper and combine with cooked spaghetti. Serve on hot platter with meat balls.

Split hamburger buns and toast lightly in the broiler. Lay slices of

Proper Use of Your Perfume

Perfume is the final touch if you are dressing for a party.

By HELEN FOLLETT

ARRAYING ONESELF for the grand party isn't much fun unless one can dip into the perfume bottle. Perfume is the final touch. It makes one feel elegant and romantic. The counter where the scented odors are displayed is tempting beyond belief. A woman can regard the monthly grocery bill with dismay, vow she will economize; but let her get within ten feet of the perfume counter and she is lost.

Let her be canny when using a scent. She must never announce her arrival at a gathering by carrying a too distinctive aura, no matter how sweet and compelling it may be. The art calls for more subtlety than that. The scent must be elusive. So be moderate in your application. A light spraying with an atomizer on chest and upper arms is enough. The warmth of the flesh will cause the alcoholic content to evaporate, only the delicious aroma will remain.

The Exotic Blends

Exotic blends should be left to the woman of exotic dress and flair. They are not for the run-of-the-mill girl who doesn't go in for extreme modes or unusual make-up patterns. Strong scents are vulgar because they offend the fastidious nose and that is a social error.

Now that perfumes are more expensive than ever, remember that they are affected by light, heat and contact with the air.

Spread on Hand

When buying perfume spread a little of the essence on the back of your hand. A handkerchief is not a good testing surface, nor is any other fabric except wool.

It is wise to buy a small container; see if it is friendly or tiresome after using for a few weeks. You have to live with it for awhile to find out.

Place your frocks on scented hangers. Put sachet pads in hat, handkerchief and glove boxes. In time, your wardrobe will become impregnated with the scented perfumes.

Hollywood Beauty Parade

By Max Factor, Jr.

(Famous Make-up Advisor to the Screen Stars Writing for I. N. S.)

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Every woman should be aware of the fact that if she is not particularly interested in her own appearance, she is to all purposes inviting everyone else to be completely uninterested in it, too. Boredom about appearance has never furthered feminine glamour, and never will.

Hollywood's loveliest screen stars are invariably interested in their command of appearance perfection and glamour. They know that to keep on being a screen star one has to keep on being beautiful and glamorous, and that such a star therefore simply can't be bored with the idea of constantly commanding personal beautification.

Make-up is not so often influenced and detracted from by boredom and disinterest as many other details of feminine appearance. Force of habit usually sees to it that some practice of the cosmetic art is kept up, even when a woman's real interest in her appearance is at a low ebb.

Care of the hair, however, often suffers from such lack of personal appearance interest. So does general neatness of appearance. Carelessness and boredom are largely synonymous, and untidiness is a natural consequence to them. Such untidiness, obviously, is a deadly enemy to glamour.

Boredom about how you look can also lead to having a figure which is not anywhere near as attractive as it could or should be. If you don't display any real interest in your weight, your posture, or your carriage, the physical appearance you present is bound to reflect all of these facts.

Detection of the glamour destroying type of boredom we are considering is altogether up to the individual. Such detection can come only after self analysis reveals that the desire for appearance glamour

Since March 1942, all applications for telephone service have been handled in accordance with Federal Government Orders.

These Orders were designed to insure that the best possible use be made of available telephone facilities. They provided for priority in furnishing service to those on whom depend public health, security and welfare, and to obvious others such as subscribers moving to new addresses.

IN EVERY CASE WE WILL NOTIFY APPLICANTS AS SOON AS WE CAN FURNISH THEM THE SERVICE THEY WANT.

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania

We'll continue this well-tried method of handling applications when national control ends. It has proved orderly and fair.

We have made great strides toward filling all applications for service which were being held on V-J Day for lack of facilities, and in keeping pace with the staggering new demands.

Further major additions to central offices and outside plant scheduled for 1947 should greatly reduce the period of waiting.
